

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS!

Learn How to Protect You and Your Family During Immigration Raids

Some people who are not United States citizens have been arrested or detained by the United States government. Please Note: Contents of this booklet do not constitute legal advice. Consult an immigration attorney for legal advice.

If You are Questioned by the Police

If you are questioned by the police, you have the right to ask the officer if you are being arrested or detained.

- 1. If the officer says, "No, you are not being arrested or detained"
 - a. Ask the officer if you may leave. When the officer says you may leave, slowly walk away.
- 2. If the officer says, "Yes, you are being arrested or detained"
 - a. You have the right to remain silent!

If you are undocumented:

- Do NOT answer any questions or say only "I need to speak with my lawyer."
- If you have valid immigration status documents, show it.
 - Always carry it with you.
- Do NOT say anything about where you were born or how you entered the United States.
- Do NOT carry papers from another country.
 - If you do, the government can use this information in a deportation proceeding.
- Show them the Know Your Rights Card attached.
- Above all, do NOT show any false documentation and do NOT lie.

Important: In some states, it is a crime not to provide your name when asked by a police officer. While punishment for these crimes is minor, you still could be arrested for not providing your name. Remember that providing your name has risks, and that your name can be used to start a deportation process.

If Immigration Comes to Your Home

If police or immigration comes to your home:

- You have the right to see a warrant if the police, FBI, Immigration, or other government officials try to enter your home.
 - A warrant is a paper signed by a judge giving the officer permission to enter your home.
 - A warrant will specify the areas that the official has the right to search.
- Do NOT open the door.
- Ask the officer to slip the warrant underneath the door. If you open the door and allow the official to come into the house, this may be considered giving "consent" to enter.
 - If the official enters without a warrant:
 - Request the names and badge numbers of all officers and say that you did NOT "consent" to a search.
 - Write down the names, addresses, and phone numbers of anyone who witnessed the incident.

If Immigration Comes to Your Workplace

Immigration or the police must have a warrant signed by a judge or the employer's permission to enter your workplace. If it is a public place, they do not need a warrant.

Stay calm. Do not run. This may be viewed as an admission that you have something to hide.

If Immigration Comes to Your Workplace

If the police or an immigration officer stops you on the street and does not have a warrant, they may not arrest you unless they have evidence that you are a non-citizen. Remember you have the right to remain silent and to refuse a search.

- Do NOT say anything about your immigration status or where you were born.
- Do NOT carry with you any documents from your country of origin or false documents.
- Do show your valid immigration status documents, if you have them.

What Should You Do If You are Arrested

- 1. Find out who has arrested you.
 - Write down the name of the officers and their agency (Police, FBI, Immigration, Sherriff), along with their identification numbers and license plate numbers.
 - You can find this information on their uniforms and vehicles.
- 2. Do NOT sign any documents before speaking with a lawyer.
 - You always have the right to speak with a lawyer. Government officials may try to intimidate you or trick you into signing. Do not let yourself be tricked! You may be signing away your right to a hearing before an immigration judge.
- 3. Contact your attorney or a family member.
 - You have the right to make a telephone call after you are arrested. Memorize the telephone number of your attorney, family member, friend, or union spokesperson. Contact that person immediately.
- 4. Contact your consulate.
 - If you are a foreign national and arrested in the United States, you have the right to call your consulate or to have the deportation officer inform the consulate of your arrest. Ask the deportation officer to see a list of embassies and write down the phone number. The consulate may assist you in finding a lawyer or officer to contact your family.
- 5. Ask for bond.
 - Once you are in immigration custody, ask for bond (even if immigration says you are not eligible). You have to show that you are not a flight risk or a danger to the community. Also, get a copy of the "Notice to Appear," a document that contains the immigration charges against you.

Ask Your Attorney to Help You Get Released from Custody

If you are arrested by local police, they must charge you with a crime in court within 48 hours (not counting weekends and holidays), or release you. If police do file criminal charges, then you must still be released if:

- 1. The charges are dropped
- 2. You are granted and post bail
- 3. You win your criminal case
- 4. You complete your sentence

The police may contact Immigration to learn more about your immigration status. For example, if you have an outstanding deportation order, the police may inform Immigration that you are in police custody.

Immigration may then place a "detainer" on you, which gives Immigration an additional 48 hours to pick you up. If Immigration fails to pick you up within this timeframe, the police must release you.

If the police don't file criminal charges AND if Immigration does not file a detainer, call an attorney or community organization to help you get released from police custody. They can write a demand letter to the jail or the sheriff.

What Should You Do if You Have Been Accused of a Crime?

Consult with an immigration attorney to make sure that the crime will not affect your immigration status. If you want to apply for citizenship or a permanent resident card (green card), talk to your lawyer.

What Should You Do if You are Facing Deportation and You Need an Attorney?

Find an attorney who specializes in deportation defenses. Always keep with you the complete name and contact information of your attorney. Request a written contract from your attorney before paying them. Make sure your attorney looks at the Notice to Appear (NTA) or your immigration papers before making promises. Do not be tricked by people who are only after your money.

Develop a Safety Plan

- Make a plan of action with your co-workers.
 - Talk with your co-workers to see if they are willing to make a collective decision that everyone, regardless of their immigration status, will remain silent and ask to speak with an attorney in the event of a workplace raid.
 - Tell co-workers not to run and to remain calm if there is a raid.
 - If there is a union at your workplace, contact your union spokesperson to find out more about preparing for a raid.
- Know what documents you should carry with you.
 - Carry a card with the contact information of your immigration attorney and/or union representative.
 - Carry a card, indicating that you wish to remain silent.
- Make a plan to care for your family.
 - If you have children or elderly relatives, make arrangements in advance for a family member or a friend to care for them if you are detained. Have the telephone numbers of this person with you at all times and make sure other people know of these plans.
 - Make sure you designate people you trust to make decisions for you if you are detained.

- They can help you withdraw money for deportation expenses or pay a mortgage. You can sign a Power of Attorney agreement to give this power to someone if you are arrested.
- Make sure your family has your immigration number (if you have one), your full name, and your date of birth. You will find this number on your permission or your residency card. The number begins with "A."
- Make sure your family knows how to contact you if you are detained. Family members should contact the local office of Immigration and Customs Enforcement's Detention and Removal Branch if they do not know where you are detained.
 - Ask to speak with the supervisory deportation officer and give the full name and A# of the detainee.
 - If you do not have the contact information for your local field office, contact the Washington, D.C. Headquarters at 202-305-2734.
- Find an immigration attorney.
 - Find an attorney who specializes in deportation defense that may be able to represent you if you are detained. Memorize the name and phone number of your immigration attorney.
 - Have the names and phone numbers of several good immigration attorneys posted near the telephone at home so family members can call an attorney if you are detained.
- Have a copy of all immigration documents.
 - Keep a copy of all immigration documents that have been filed with immigration with a trusted friend or family member.
 - Collect important papers, such as birth certificates, marriage certificates, and passports.
 Place these documents in a secure, easy to find location so that your family can get access to these materials easily.
 - Make a list of the names and contact information of any lawyer who has ever represented you.
